Overview:

Avirup is a Partner in the M&A and Energy & Infrastructure team at Saraf and Partners. He possesses nearly two decades of comprehensive experience in providing strategic counsel to clients across various sectors in relation to M&A and PE deals, and on various aspects of project development.

With a specific focus on renewable energy, conventional power, roads/transport, e-mobility, and heavy industries, Avirup regularly represents developers/companies, financial and strategic investors in M&A and PE transactions and has been instrumental in facilitating significant transactions in these sectors.

Further, Avirup regularly acts for clients in drafting and negotiating complex project development contracts such as long term supply contracts, operations and management contracts, off-take contracts, and concession contracts in the Energy & Infrastructure domain. His expertise extends beyond national borders, having undertaken advisory roles not only in India but also in diverse international jurisdictions such as Bangladesh, Nepal, Mauritius, Bhutan, Maldives, and Sri Lanka. This international exposure has fortified his role as an adept international counsel in project development mandates and M&A deals.
